Parent-Teachers to Meet Monday Night

Reception to Feature First Meeting of Season at School

ALL PARENTS INVITED

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association will hold the first meeting of the new school year. The meeting will be held at the school.

Since so much of the success of the P. T. A. depends upon a spirit of friendly co-operation the first meeting will take the form of a reception and social time. The entire faculty will be there to greet the parents and visit with them during the evening. Fathers and mothers will also have ample opportunity for fellowship with one another.

Always a treat for Narberthites, Mrs. Cletus Senft will render several vocal selections. Refreshments will be served to still further encourage sociability.

The Executive Committee extends a cordial invitation to every parent to come on Monday night. All fathers and mothers, whether members or not, are welcome and urged to come to this informal open meeting.

The P. T. A. executives have already planned for the monthly meetings throughout the school year. Promise is made of a decidedly interesting and profitable season for a full understanding of child problems and as they relate to the school and home.

Several of the officers and committee-women of the association attended the Pennsylvania State Convention of the P. T. A. at York this week to better equip them in promoting the welfare of the Narberth Organization.

The officers of the association for the 1932-33 year are Mrs. W. G. Briner, president; Mrs. W. P. Dunnington and Miss Sarah Hoak, vice presidents; Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin, secretary, and Mrs. L. B. Moxon, treasurer.

Child Dies in Hospital, Struck by Miller's Truck

Mary Constantina, three and one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Constantina, of 523 Gordon avenue, Narberth, died in Bryn Mawr Hospital Monday afternoon from injuries received a short time before when struck by a truck on Brookhurst avenue near Montgomery.

The truck was driven by Albert C. Miller, of 458 Brookhurst avenue, Narberth, an assistant chief of the Narberth Fire Company and former lieutenant of Lower Merion Police.

At a hearing before Magistrate Kromer Miller was released upon his own recognizance to await action of the coroner. Police Officers Boyd and Love, who witnessed the accident, stated that the child ran directly against the side of the truck. She was struck by a rear wheel.

The Ladies of the Home Missionary Society of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a bake sale at 203 Haverford avenue this Friday.

C. P. Cook, Authority on Local History, Gives Old Maps Their Rightful Due

Maps to most people mean automobile maps, useful enough when on a trip but nothing to delight in for their own sake.

And this is natural enough, for, according to Chester Preston Cook, of Merion, map making has fallen onto evil days. A collector and connoisseur of old maps, Mr. Cook holds that the halcyon days of map making in this country were from approximately 1810 to 1860.

"The old map makers took pride in their work," he said. "They weren't paid very much, but they did their jobs well. Philadelphia," he added, "was the map making center in those days, not New York or Boston."

The modern atlases, used by large businesses and municipalities, Mr. Cook allows some virtues. The atlas, he said, goes into great detail, showing every individual property owner, while the map, in distinction, shows less detail but must be drawn to scale and show every town and hamlet and

Vivid Story of Columbus Given by S. E. Downs

The life and accomplishments of Christopher Columbus, stripped of monotonous dates, was the subject of a talk given Tuesday before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club by S. Edgar Downs, superintendent of schools in Lower Merion Township.

Mr. Downs sketched the historical background of the famous voyages, showing the need of gold to support Europe's credit structure and the difficulty of commerce with the Far East. Columbus, disappointed by Portugal, spent seven lean years trying to sell his plan to Spain, and only succeeded in getting backing by a threat to go to France.

The initial successes and final failures through the intrigues of court were brought out. Columbus found an empire, but the discovery of gold, dominant in the ambitions of Spain, waited for other adventurers who followed in his path.

In a speech of thanks, A. J. Esrey pointed to the moral in the life of Columbus—that the courage of 1492 might well be emulated in 1932. Philip A. Livingston introduced the speaker.

Durbin Chosen New Legion Commander

New Officers Elected at Meeting Monday, to be Installed October 24

PLAN ARMISTICE EVENTS

William H. Durbin, athlete and real estate man, was elected commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, of Narberth, on Monday night.

Other officers elected were: Henry A. Frye, first vice-commander; A. Perry Redifer, Jr., second vice-commander; Clifford W. Goodwin, adjutant; John A. Mowrer, Jr., finance officer; the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, chaplain; E. O. Ensinger, sergeant-at-arms.

The following were named to the Executive Committee: John C. Nash, Walter P. Miesen, Arthur L. Cooke, Joseph P. Berta, and Roland K. Hewitt.

Durbin, who will succeed Mowrer as commander, will take office on October 24 when the Ninth District Commander Leon Walt will install the new officers.

An Armistice Day Sunday service is planned by the Post in charge of the chaplain, Mr. Keighton.

A committee was also named for the annual Armistice Day banquet. This includes C. H. Greyer, Cooke, Frye, Nash, Redifer and Miesen.

No discussion of the bonus was made at the meeting.

Open Hoover Headquarters

A Hoover Headquarters will be opened in Narberth on Monday at 243 Haverford avenue by the Narberth Republican Committee. Information will be available to voters at this headquarters at all times up to election.

New Relief System to be Tried in Boro

Professional Welfare Worker to Have Office Hours in Elm Hall

SPENT $500 PER MONTH

A new method of administering relief work in Narberth was worked out this week by Burgess Henry A. Frye, chairman of the Narberth Committee, in co-operation with the Main Line Emergency Committee.

Under the new plan, which will be tried out for one month, a professional welfare worker, Miss Florence Gourley, will have office hours in Elm Hall from 9:30 to 10:30 every morning except Friday.

This will eliminate the necessity of going to the Federation of Churches headquarters in Bryn Mawr and provide direct contact with cases in the Borough.

People who know of families needing assistance may call Miss Gourley during these hours at the Borough office or leave a message for her there.

According to Miss Alice Ambler, Executive Secretary of the Federation of Churches, the new system will make no difference in the amount of money to be spent in the Borough. All relief funds, she stated, are entirely separate from overhead, and no workers' salaries are paid out of relief money.

According to Mr. Frye, approximately $500 per month has been spent in Narberth for relief purposes since the first of the year. This has been derived from the United Campaign of last year, the County Poor Board and the Talbot Act. A total of one hundred and thirty families have been helped. Thirty-three Narberth families were on the relief list during September.

All of this relief is in addition to the several hundred dollars made available through the efforts of Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and their assistants. These women have carried on volunteer relief work in the Borough for over two years without any compensation. Some cases they investigated have been reported to the Federation of Churches, while others, in temporary need, have been kept strictly confidential.

Health Centers to Reopen on Tuesday

Physicians in Charge Believe it Safe to Resume Sessions

CLOSED SINCE AUG. 26TH

The Child Health Centers conducted by the Community Health and Civic Association will be reopened beginning Tuesday, October 18th. They have been closed since August 26th due to the epidemic of Infantile Paralysis. The epidemic has now subsided and the physicians in charge feel the Centers can safely be reopened.

These Centers, which are maintained in the interest of promoting health and preventing disease in infants and pre-school children, had a total attendance of 5,881 during the year ending August 31, 1932. This was an increase of 865 over the attendance of the preceding twelve months. Of this number 499 children were discovered in the physician's examination to have some defect needing attention and were referred to their private physician or hospital clinic for correction and treatment.

The locations of the Centers and days they are in session are as follows:

Ardmore Center, 25 E. Athens avenue, open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2-3 P. M.

Bryn Mawr Center, Memorial Grounds, Lancaster and Bryn Mawr avenues, open Tuesdays and Fridays from 2-3 P. M.

Oakmont Center, School Building, E. Eagle road, open Tuesdays from 2-3 P. M.

Narberth Center, Elm Hall, Forest avenue, open Wednesdays from 2-3 P. M.

W. Manayunk Center, School Building, open Wednesdays from 2-3 P. M.

Superintendent of Lower Merion's Schools, who spoke on Columbus before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday.

Traffic Ordinance Adopted by Council

Gives Police Authority to Warn Violators; Stiff Fine Provided

NO PARKING 3 TO 6 A. M.

An ordinance regulating the direction and speed of traffic, the parking of vehicles and establishing a traffic court, was passed on third reading and signed by the Burgess at the October meeting of the Narberth Borough Council Monday night.

According to its provisions the Public Safety Committee of Council, with the approval of the Burgess, shall have the power and authority to regulate the direction and speed of vehicular traffic and to fix the time and manner in which vehicles may be parked on any or all of the streets of the Borough.

The ordinance provides that no person shall park or leave standing, unattended, any vehicle on any street of the Borough between the hours of 3 A. M. and 6 A. M.

It further provides that police officers in uniform or upon display of badge shall have authority to warn any operator or any vehicle violating any of the regulations covered by this ordinance or to notify said operator in writing of the time and place for a hearing, or he may make information of such violation before the Burgess or a Justice of the Peace of the Borough against any such operator.

Violations of regulations of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than fifty dollars with costs, or in case of non-payment of fines and costs, to ten days in jail.

Provision is made in the ordinance for the establishment by the Burgess or a Justice of the Peace of the Borough of a special "traffic court" for the hearing of cases of violations of the regulations covered by this ordinance or violation of any ordinance of Council or Act of Assembly.

Reciprocity Luncheon at Baptist Church Tuesday

The Women's Community Club of Narberth will hold the reciprocity luncheon in the Narberth Baptist Church on Tuesday at 1 P. M.

The speaker will be Don Rose, columnist, who will talk on "The Editorial Page." The luncheon is in charge of the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Victor O. Krauskop, chairman.

Narberth Players View "Show Boat" at Camden Dock; Discuss Coming Production

Over to Camden went the Narberth Players on Tuesday night. No, not for beer, but to attend a performance on the "Show Boat," docked at Cooper river, the original vessel which provided Edna Ferber with inspiration for her famous story, since dramatized, "Show Boat."

The party, a surprise to the 49 members of the organization attending, was sponsored by Judge George Corson. Following the performances, the group returned to the home of Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy A. King, on Shir-

Two Mill Borough Tax Reduction Advocated at Meeting of Council

Recommendation of Slash of at Least Two Dollars Per Thousand Made by Chairman Kaerber of Finance Committee

A reduction of 2 mills and possibly more in the Borough tax rate for 1933 is foreseen as the result of a stand taken by the Finance Committee of the Narberth Council at its meeting Monday night.

In a supplementary report Councilman Clarence Kaerber, chairman of that committee, stated: "Your Finance Committee, after careful consideration, stands in favor of a reduction of at least $2.00 per thousand in our present tax rate of $18.00 per thousand when fixing the rate for 1933."

The average assessed valuation of Narberth properties (based on one-third real value) is $4,000. Under the present rate of 18 mills, on a $4,000 property, a tax of $72 is collected. With a 16 mill rate, the tax on the same property would be $64, a saving of $8. With a higher assessment, the saving would, of course, be greater, and on a smaller assessment, less.

Asked how the Borough would effect this tax reduction, Mr. Kaerber said, "We will cut our cloth accordingly. There will be approximately $75,000 available from a 16 mill rate and we will make that do."

The tax rate will not be adopted until the January meeting, but the stand of the Finance Committee indicates that a two mill or more reduction will be aimed at by Council in working up the 1933 budget.

A report received at the meeting from Borough Tax Collector Edwin P. Dold showed that good progress is being made in the collection of 1932 taxes. During the period from September 1st to 15th a total of $28,450.01 of the Borough tax was collected. There has been $7,963.58 collected previously, making a total to date of $36,413.59. This leaves a balance of $53,789.27 of the 1932 tax duplicate of $90,202.86 to collect. A check for $25,489.01, representing the amount collected from September 1 to 15, less 5 per cent. discount and 2 per cent. commission, was turned over to the Borough Treasurer, Walton M. Wentz.

The Building Committee's report showed that six permits had been issued during the past month as follows:

Candilore Brandanti, 305 Woodbine avenue, shed and laundry, $50; Miss C. N. Reger, 842 Montgomery avenue, alteration, $40; Lower Merion Building and Loan Association, 5 Sabine avenue, alteration, $850; William Sell, 107 Conway avenue, garage, $250; Nat Callahan, 109 Conway avenue, garage, $250; Russell S. Baseler, 219 Iona avenue, garage, $200.

New Narberth A. A. Wins Opener 32-0

Keim, A. Humphries and A. Nelson Play Big Part in Win Over Northwestern

PLAY BLUE JACKETS SAT.

The newly organized Narberth A. A. opened the season last Saturday by defeating Northwestern by a score of 32-0 before a large crowd. This was the first game of organized football in the Borough for some years.

"Lou" Keim scored the initial six-pointer after the opening kick-off when he returned Nugent's punt for 65 yards. Peters failed on the try for the point. Keim again ran 35 yards on a wide end run for a touchdown.

A. Nelson also scored twice for the home club by reeling off 15 and 20 yards through the Northwestern's line.

A. Humphries played a big part on the defense as well as on the offense. Humphries got away on a 20-yard run for a touchdown. The extra points were scored on passes from McGarry and A. Nelson, with A. Humphries and Young on the receiving end.

The visitors couldn't get through the Point Owners' line and they were kept on the defensive throughout the struggle. The Northwestern eleven could gain only two first downs, one a penalty for roughing the kicker and the other in the second period.

The outstanding linemen from the home team were G. Humphries and Crochen, while Nugent and O'Donnell were the visitors' stars.

Tomorrow afternoon Narberth will play Wissinoming Blue Jackets on the community field.

Mrs. Andrew Johnstone, Secretary of Stewardship in our Presbyterian Society. Mrs. Peter Stam, Jr., will be the soloist. Every woman of the congregation is invited.

The deep impressions of the meetings conducted by the pastor and the people last week for the deepening of the spiritual life will tarry with us always. The attendance each evening was not encouraging. The crowning meeting was on Friday night when 167 were present; the subject was "Consecration," and at the close of the solemn service nearly everyone present quietly re-dedicated himself to the service of the Master. These meetings have been the direct outcome of earnest prayer and it is hoped that they will be but the beginning of a blessed work by this church in the coming days.

P. M.

Local Movies

Narberth Movie Notes

An amusing tale of athletes and the recent Olympics is "Million-Dollar Legs," at the Narberth Theatre this week-end. Added featurettes are a Zasu Pitts-Thelma Todd comedy, Mickey Mouse comedy, and "Island of Peril."

Announcement is made of the resumption of matinees, 2.30 P. M., Monday and Wednesday, and 2 P. M.
Saturdays and holidays.

"Lena Rivers," termed the screen's sweetest love story, will be at Nar-berth next Monday and Tuesday.
Charlotte Henry and Morgan Galloway are in this tale, which features a thrilling horse race and good singing by dummies.

"Doctor X," at Narberth, next Wednesday and Thursday, is a thriller, with good acting and plenty of excitement. Next week-end's feature will be "Down To Earth," very much worth seeing, in which Will Rogers and his film family cheerfully weather the change from prosperity to depression.

Four Films of Interest Featured as Egyptian Marks Fifth Anniversary

Following the modern trend of motivating screen drama through the background (as in "Transatlantic" and "Grand Hotel"), "Skyscraper Souls," at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday nights, has an ideal background in a 102-story skyscraper, microcosm of the life of a metropolis. In the complicated and interesting plot, based on Faith Baldwin's novel, "Skyscraper," are Warren William, Maureen O'Sullivan, Anita Page, Verree Teasdale, Norman Foster, George Barbier, Jean Hersholt and Hedda Hopper.

How the other half of mankind lives is told in a human and pleasing tale,
"Hearts of Humanity," in which Jean Hersholt and Jackie Searl are coming to the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday. In it Mr. Hersholt, capable character actor of dozens of successes, including Marie Dressler's "Emma," has an excellent role. Also on the program is "Strictly Unreliable," one of the funniest comedies of Thelma Todd and Zasu Pitts.

Amusing new version of "Merton of the Movies," Harry Leon Wilson's story, is "Make Me A Star," coming to Cynwyd next Wednesday and Thursday, including a matinee 3.45
P. M. Wednesday. In addition to Stuart Erwin, Joan Blondell, Zasu
Pitts and Ben Turpin, many well-known stars appear briefly—such as Chevalier, Frederic March, Phillips
Holmes, Jack Oakie, Sylvia Sydney, Claudette Colbert and Charlie Rugh-gles.

In "Washington Masquerade," Lionel Barrymore, at present the most popular member of the Royal Family, has a role equal to that in "Free Soul," his first dramatic hit for the talkies. Unquestionably one of the year's best films, "Washington Masquerade" is of timely interest as the election draws near. Its cast includes Karen Morley and Nils Asther. Also on the program next week-end, as the Egyptian ends its anniversary week, will be "The Chimp," latest Laurel and Hardy comedy.

Shows for Children Are Popular Egyptian Features

Hundreds of children thronged the Egyptian Theatre in Cynwyd last Saturday afternoon at the first of the season's children's parties. The entertainment was a treat, celebrating the return of cool weather and the opening of schools.

This Saturday at 2 P. M. a show will be presented which Manager Joseph Conway highly recommends for all children:

"Charlie's Aunt," talkie version of the hilariously funny story in which Syd Chaplin starred when movies were silent, will be presented, with Charlie Ruggles in the title role. The first chapter will be given of the stirring, interesting James Fenimore Cooper story, "Last of the Mohicans."
Also on the program will be "Flip-the Frog" and "Our Gang" comedies.

Also for children will be a matinee at 3.45 P. M., next Wednesday, of "Make Me A Star," the talkie version of Harry Leon Wilson's popular tale, "Merton of the Movies."

D. A. R. Luncheon Monday
The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. A., will open the fall program with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Edwin C. Town, N. Narberth avenue, on Monday at 1 P. M. Following the luncheon there will be a short business meeting and a talk on "Americanism," by Mrs. Harris Jones, the State Chairman of that department.

Nominating Committee Appointed by Mulieres

The Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company held the first meeting of the season on Monday afternoon in Elm Hall. Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, the president, appointed the following as members of the Nominating Committee: Mrs. John E. Burrell and Mrs.
Charles Harnden. The election of officers will take place at the regular meeting on Monday, November 14.

It was also decided by the members of the organization to have a barrel placed outside of the Fire Hall to receive discarded or outgrown clothing, which will be repaired and distributed by the members of the organization.

The Mulieres are now clear of all debts and are looking forward with great interest to the dances which have been planned this winter, the first of which will be held on October 28 in Elm Hall, and will be a costume dance. There will be a good orchestra and refreshments.

Study Seaway Treaty

The first meeting of the International Relations Committee of the Women's Community Club of Narberth was held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Leon Webster Melcher, on Meeting House lane, Monday afternoon, when the St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty was discussed and studied by the members. It is hoped by the chairman that the interest will continue in this subject and that the group will continue to meet every two weeks.

Literature Group Meets

The Literature Group of the Women's Community Club of Narberth held a meeting at the home of Mrs.
Clifford W. Bates on North Narberth avenue, Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. C. Arley Farmer reviewed "The Fountain," by Charles Morgan.

The next meeting of this group will be held on Tuesday afternoon, October 25, at the home of Mrs. Henry W.
Dotzenroth, Cleveland avenue, when Mrs. Walter J. Odiorne, chairman of the Literature Department, will review Vicki's Baum, "Secret Sentence."

Guild Meeting Wednesday

The Narberth Branch of the Nec-dlework Guild of America will hold an all day sewing meeting at the

Has Religion in the World Today?"
The meetings are under the leadership of the Rev. Robert E. Keighton.

American Plays to Feature Programs at Hedgerow

"The Emperor—Jones," by Eugene O'Neill, with Arthur Rich and Jasper Deeter playing the two important roles in this psychological melodrama, opens the program for next week at the Hedgerow Theatre in Rose Valley. All but one of the presentations for the week are by American writers, with two of the pieces to the credit of The Spewacks, who have just been eminently successful with a new production at the Times Square Theatre in New York. Mrs. Spewack's
"Spring Song," introduced in this part of the country by Hedgerow this summer, is announced for a Broadway production soon. It will be seen on the stage at Rose Valley on Tuesday night. The new sparkling Spanish comedy by Sierra, "Wife to a Famous Man," which had its opening performance last week, will be the play for Wednesday night. Anthony Veil-ler's comedy on the legal profession,
"The D. A.," is scheduled for Thursday night. Friday night's play is the hilarious comedy of a stock company's efforts to survive, — "Merry-Go-Round," by M. M. Musselman. Another play by the Spewack family, which has a successful life in the Hedgerow repertory is the crook comedy, "Solitaire Man," and it appears on Saturday night with Carl Raukauf again in the role of the gentleman bandit, and Helen Craig, Catherine Corcoran, and Joseph Taulane as his able assistants in crime.

Tonight's show at Hedgerow is the classic, "The Physician in Spite of Himself," by Moliere, and tomorrow night's is "The Sea Gull," by the Russian playwright Chekhov.

Montgomery's Liquor

This year Montgomery County will select her first Congressman. With vital matters affecting the entire country dependent upon the make-up of the next Congress it is amusing to note that the liquor issue seems to dominate the discussion in this county.

And yet, if we are to believe their respective words on the question, both of the leading candidates are on the same side of the question. Why, then, are the other issues of the campaign so seldom mentioned?

There are two dry candidates and two wets, but the contest is between the two wets. Earl Hoover and P. R. Taylor appear on the ballots as friends of the Eighteenth Amendment; Philip C. Pendleton and J. William Ditter have both espoused the wet cause; each of the latter gentlemen adheres pretty closely to his national platform—Democratic and Republican respectively.

Possibly it is Mr. Pendleton's doings that the campaign has been conducted along these lines. From the beginning his whole story has been: "I have always been against prohibition." He has spoken on the theme many times; last Monday he debated the issue with dry Presidential candidate Upshaw.

But Mr. Ditter, who is seasoned in politics, need not conduct his campaign along so limited a line. He has been labeled "convert" by his opponent so often that he has taken great pains to restate his position on Prohibition. Since both Mr. Ditter and Mr. Pendleton are pledged wet, is it not about time that Mr. Pendleton told us about something else?

For if Prohibition is to be the issue, and the county wets are to go to the polls for the sole purpose of choosing a Congressman who will help to bring back liquor, Mr. Ditter's platform, which agrees in most particulars with that of President Hoover, has some chance of success. The "outright repeal" talk of the Democrats is the most deceptive windstorm on record. The party knows that an outright repeal issue presented to the states would never find 36 to ratify the repealer.

On the other hand, the Republican program for reform might have a chance for success. States which would block an effort to restore the saloon might well go along with a less radical proposal. "Outright Repeal" sounds well from the platform, but it holds within itself its own failure. Perhaps Mr. Ditter has not been so radical or so vehement as his opponent along wet lines, but we venture to suggest that his program will bring Prohibition reform while the Democrats are still tilting at windmills.

Change the subject, Mr. Pendleton!

Shreds & Patches

Natural Critics

Soon after our ancestors first abandoned aboreal life, or possibly it followed the expulsion from the Garden of Eden, it became necessary for a group of them to roll a large stone up a steep and rough incline in order to close more effectively the entrance to the cavern in which they all lived. It required a vast amount of persuasion from their leader to convince them that the task could be accomplished at all. "Surely," they said, "it would be an excellent thing if that stone had happened to lie in front of our cavern, like these pebbles here, but the gods have placed it otherwise and no man is strong enough to roll it up that hill!" Whereat the chief one replied, "True, no man can roll it up, but all of us men and our women, if we work together, can roll it up." Now there was only one thing to do, merely to get behind that stone and push. But did they all do it? Not they! Several detached themselves solely to find fault with the road for its roughness and with the chief for his gruffness. Those critics were not lazy nor adverse to work. They were just natural critics.

Patrioteers

That critical, fault-finding instinct is so deeply and commonly imbedded in the human breed that it undoubtedly is serving some good end. Probably our fault-finders are our producers and progress derives from them, but it does seem to The Vagrant sometimes that civilization should be by now sufficiently far advanced so that by constructive suggestions equal progress could be much more smoothly attained than by the witch-burning practices which are still so prevalent. People band themselves together to accomplish some worthy or innocent object, such as those organizations which originally aimed to keep alive a grateful memory of the sterling deeds of the participants in the American Revolution. An excellent and harmless enterprise! But time, forty or more years of it, passes and now what do we see? An attempt to promote patriotism by proscription; more expenditure of time, effort, breath and printer's good ink in denunciation of alleged enemies of the Republic than in constructive praise of its founders and friends! To attack is stimulating and exciting. Patiently to rear, piece by piece, any structure is tiresome and non-sensational. The patrioteers do not put their shoulders to the stone which must be elevated higher and higher to enhance our national life. Instead, they stand on the side lines and fulminate against the pebbles and debris which litter the way of national progress. They are exceedingly—but there! there! hush! hush! little Vagrant, your own critical faculty is becoming too evident!

Raw Nature

If The Vagrant did not know how much time elapses between the actual origin of an advertising idea and its actual appearance in public, he might think, in his vain, little way, that the Lucky Strike people had been reading this column just before they launched, in print and on the radio, their currently blatant aphorism that nature in the raw is seldom mild. Smiling, sunny, sardonic nature! The Vagrant has told how with mere vegetable, reptilian and insect strength she encompasses our house lots and our dwellings. How much more does she invade our own living bodies and forcing her way against all the barriers raised by our religions, our morals and our concepts of what is right and proper, bend us to her will! No wonder that those institutions which are wisest in handling human nature provide by means of confessional booth, by absolution, or by Atonement, observed by the Jews only last Monday, methods by which puny man can purge himself of the marks left by his unequal strife with nature in the raw! And for the non-Catholic Gentle there is provided along about this time of the year a week of prayer which aims to accomplish the same thing. May all priests and rabbis and pastors read and listen to that Lucky Strike slogan, meditate on it and remember what their people have been up against!

THE VAGRANT.

The Literary Inquest

Conducted by Richard Powell

Better than the writers of any other race, English novelists understand that the present is the heir of the past and the progenitor of the future. That which is earthly of a man dies and is buried, verdure creeps over the mound and slow erosion smooths the headstone, yet when his name is no longer even a memory, the lives of many people are still affected through his having lived. Phyllis Bentley's "Inheritance" (Macmillan, $2.50. Pub. September 13) follows this tradition in masterly fashion. Through the march of six generations the action of a mill owner in installing new machinery, and the unselfish opposition of one of his employees to this, affected the Ire Valley in Western England.

In 1813 William Oldroyd became a pioneer of the Industrial Revolution by setting up labor-saving machinery in his small weaving mill, undeterred by fear of the riots that had smashed such machinery in neighboring towns, since he regarded his workers as personal friends. So, unsuspecting, he came to his death from an ambushed marksman. This murder and the hanging of three men for the deed—Mellor, Bamforth and Thorpe—signifies the break between capital and labor. The old paternalistic system of industry gives way to individualism and exploitation. Manufacturers on one side, workers on the other, the nineteenth century runs its course of strikes and child labor and bloody riots. The Oldroyds, always in the van of mechanical progress, erect a manufacturing dynasty; the Mellors constantly flame in bitter rebellion; the Thorpes meet their grinding life with sardonic patience; while the idealistic Bamforths continue their efforts to secure justice peacefully.

Even as the looms shuttle back and forth, so the lives of members of these families cross to produce a pattern colored by threads of birth, love and death. The years bring intermarriage until all the strains of blood are united in David Oldroyd, born during the World War. At last the rugged Oldroyd character is tempered by the fierce humanity of the Mellors and the gentler idealism of the Bamforths and in this union is the hope for progress in the future.

"Inheritance" deserves unusual praise because Phyllis Bentley possesses a less versatile ability than most first-rank authors. She lacks humor, satire and outstanding descriptive powers, but she makes up for this by handling such talents as she does possess with perfect art. The Lancashire of "Inheritance" is her own home; she has taken pains to reproduce it faithfully and at length, instead of cramping it within too narrow bounds. Her understanding of dramatic conflict, fine characterization and interweaving of the historical background with the lives of her people combine to give "Inheritance" a resistless, surging power.

Hearsay Evidence

Two weeks ago we published a note about the wager between Bram Stoker and Ambrose Bierce as to which author could write the most horrible story. Stoker's effort, "Dracula," lost because the work of Bierce was considered too horrible to be published at that time (in the 1890's). We have been asked the title of the Bierce book which we stated had since been published. It was a series of short stories, most of which may be found in the collection titled "Can Such Things Be." That and other Bierce works are published by A. and C. Boni, 66 Fifth avenue, N. York City. Write to that address for particulars. The Farrar and Rinehart stunt for publicizing their monthly mystery novels almost backfired on its first trial. It was planned to induce some notable to read each story before publication and pick the murderer. Naturally it would be good advertising if this "guest detective" was badly fooled. Alice Brady, the first of these was so unkind as to pick the murderer correctly after reading 150 pages.

Charles Morgan, author of "The Fountain," is changing from Knopf to the Macmillan Publishing Company for his next three books. It is understood that he is being guaranteed $22,

Children Have to 2d Week in Nov. for Reading Club

With the final lifting of the quarantine, the Library and the Parent-teachers' Association, who together sponsor the Vacation Reading Club for children, have begun to make their plans for the meeting which indicates the termination of the summer's work. This year the enrollment for membership in the Reading Club was more promising than ever before, about sixty children having begun their reading, and new enrollments occurring every day, when the first quarantine was declared.

The second quarantine made it seem impossible for the children anywhere near to cover the reading required, but in considering the amount already accomplished it has been decided to make the awards as usual and to present the certificates to those who have done meritorious work, even though they may not have finished the reading list as originally made. Twenty-eight children have read at least fifteen books out of the twenty originally required and they will be considered deserving of the awards.

Any children who may be able before the second week in November to bring their record up to this point are requested to consult with Miss Church or Miss Christ at the Library, and this notice is for the purpose of encouraging them to do so.

The following books were added to the Library during September:

Non-Fiction—"More Merry-Go-Round," "New Deal," by Stuart Chase; "Beveridge and the Progressive Era," by C. G. Bowers; "On the Meaning of Life," by Will Durant; "March of Democracy," by James Truslow Adams; "Short History of the American Drama," by M. C. Morgue; "Nicomachus," by E. A. Robinson; "Education and the Modern World," by Bertrand Russell; "Chaucer," by G. K. Chesterton.

Fiction—"The Sheltered Life," by Ellen Glasgow; "The Strange River," by Julian Green; "This Year, Next Year, Some," by Berta Buck; "Inheritance," by Phyllis Bentley; "Tortress," by Hugh Walpole; "Behind the Door of Delusion," "Ma Cinderella," by Harold Bell Wright; "Forsaken Island," by Edison Marshall; "Tarzan Triumphant," by E. R. Burroughs; "The Gods Arrive," by Edith Wharton; "Peking Picnic," by Ann Bridge; "Sons," by Pearl Buck; "Prologue to Love," by Martha Ostenso; "Desert Sand," by Margaret Pedler. Detective and Mystery Stories—"Death in a Domino," by Roland Pertwee; "Red Shadow," by Patricia Wentworth; "Red Castle Mystery," by H. C. Bailey; "Trunk-call Mystery," by J. J. Farjeon; "Tragedy of Y," by Barnaby Ross; "Student Fraternity Murder," by Milton Propper; "Saint vs. Scotland Year," by Leslie Charteris.

500 for this trio. Macmillan will have to sell 35,000 copies of each book to make any profit under that agreement.

Ellery Queen, author of "The Egyptian Cross Mystery," is Manfred Lee in real life. Faith Baldwin is Mrs. Hugh Hamlin Cuthrell.

Bryn Mawr College Opens for 48th Year

Faculty Changes Announced by President Marion E. Park

Bryn Mawr College opened for its forty-eighth year on Monday, after a period of postponement due to the prevalence of infantile paralysis in the vicinity, which necessitated the elimination this year of Freshman Week.

MARION EDWARDS PARK

Dr. Park, in an opening address, urged students to make the public office a dignified and rewarding profession again.

"Once out of college," she said, "politics may grow from a conventional interest into something much more. It seems to me that the first step in the method of handling the difficult national and international affairs to which we are predestined must be along the line of return to the expert free agent idea in the national legislatures. A profession should be built up on a foundation of intelligence and integrity which will attract men and women, like law and medicine."

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

And now, the first frost.

And so long, dahlias!

And "glads" and all the tender annuals.

And "Hello, hardy 'mums!" You took your time about getting here, but you are very welcome—and very satisfactory! Hardy chrysanthemums will stand quite a bit of light early frost, but do not like an exposed situation in winter. They should be located in a protected place or mulched lightly—to keep the late winter sun away.

Within three or four days after the frost has stopped dahlias, they should be removed from the ground to prevent late growth. Cut the old stems within two inches of the surface, remove about an inch of soil and lift the clump of tubers with two forked spades, on each side—handle gently so as not to break the necks of tubers. Soil may be left on the clump, if they are to be stored in a fairly dry place where they will not mold; the soil helps to prevent breakage of the tubers. Some growers wash all soil from the clumps and handle them very carefully. Remember, that in the spring we will want clumps that have several eyes and that each eye must be cut with a solid neck and a tuber. Broken tubers may as well be cut away before the clumps are stored. Boxes or barrels filled with dry sand or dry peat moss may be used for storage, in a place that will not become entirely dry and will not be damp. The storage place should not fall to freezing temperature and should not rise to 60 degrees or over. Gladioli and montbretias may be stored under the same conditions. Gladioli bulbs may be removed from the ground same time as dahlias, allow the stems to dry a few days, and then clean the corms, removing old corms, bulb-lets (so-called), and stems. Do not expect large new corms from late planting; to get good corms for next year plant during May.

Not too late to plant large clumps of irises. Too late to plant small divisions of irises; they will not be able to get rooted before hard frost, although mulching will help to protect them from heaving. Not too late to plant peonies, provided they are protected with a mulch. In fact, most hardy perennials may be planted in October, at least spring-flowering sorts, but all such planting should be mulched for the first winter, after that they can care for themselves. Salt hay is the best mulching material that has been found; it is clean, free of weed seeds, free of fungus, inexpensive, easy to dispose of—on the compost pile. The hay should be laid lightly and thinly and then another layer laid in the opposite direction, held down with tree branches or long, light sticks laid where they will not harm plants. The time to apply mulch is after the ground has become frozen, usually about Christmas time. The branches of our Christmas tree make fine "hold downs" and very often about New Year's Day we will want to apply that salt hay. Better have it on hand. A bale goes a long way.

Ever see huckleberry or blueberry plants in autumn? The warm rich reds of the various heights and forms of plants are worth spending a gallon of gasoline to see. Masses of dogwood trees in fruit and fall color of foliage, such as we find at Valley Forge and an several private places on the way. Along the roadside in the country we find the two low sumacs have already put on their hunting coats. Along the edge of our woods we find sassafras trees trying to show as much color as the black gum, but unable to make the show of this most brilliant of our native trees. Hickories will soon be turning their leaves to gold and the red maples will be contrasting their reds with the clear yellow of the sugar maples. The spice bush adds more yellow and still another darker note is found in the sweet gum; this latter we find in gardens.

If you would have merriments in your garden next spring the roots had better be planted this fall. A shady place that never gets real dry is where they are happiest.

C. P. Cook Gives Old Maps Their Rightful Due

he bought for a dollar and a half at an antique dealer's at Lumberville by the canal along the Delaware. This map, listed as number one in his collection, is John Melish's map of Pennsylvania, published in 1826. Each County in the State was done by the County surveyor and the whole assembled under Melish's direction. Melish himself prepared the Delaware County section.

One of the most interesting of Mr. Cook's collection is John Levering's map of Lower Merion Township. Made in 1851, this is believed to be the first map to show the Township in detail. Charming steel engravings along the lower border of the Merion Friends' Meeting and the Academy at Cynwyd add to its interest. One is struck by the comparatively few properties and the great extent of those. Three farms composed the whole of Merion, while parts of three accounted for all of what is now Narberth. Wynnewood, or rather Libertyville as it was then known, was almost wholly encompassed in the Owen Jones estate. And so on up the line.

A little table along the border of Levering's map provides some curious information. The number of inhabitants, it states, is 3515; the number of taxables, 802; the assessment, $11,640; area in square miles, 24; valuation of real and personal estate, $1,783,000.

Contrast these figures with Lower Merion's population by the 1930 census of over 35,000, an increase of ten fold; over 20,000 taxables, and a real estate assessment, exclusive of personal property, of nearly $90,000,000! The area alone has remained the same as when John Levering drew his map in 1851.

Mr. Cook paid tribute to the work of the late A. H. Mueller, of Narberth, who, he said, was one of the finest map makers of recent years. Several of Mueller's atlases of the Main Line are among Mr. Cook's collection.

The collecting and study of old maps has naturally led Mr. Cook to old books, particularly those dealing with local history and genealogy. And so it is not to be wondered at that this genial gentleman, whose son was a star football player at Lower Merion and, subsequently, at Lafayette, should become famed as an authority on local history.

BUSINESS BITS

Now that sea food is popular again, along with football, the Arcadia Restaurant in Narberth offers a service of interest to every household. In an ad this week, it quotes moderate prices for a variety of foods—such as oysters, crabs, clams, and steak, chops, and croquettes—prepared on five minutes' notice. Everything is delicious and hot, ready to be taken home for dinner. The food is all of the Arcadia's popular quality. Diners are still served at the Arcadia, of course, and at lower prices than before. Marios Chios, the proprietor, is extending his food service still more; he is now representative of the W. W. Quinby Company, long-established importers and roasters, selling La Touraine coffee and tea.

Master at Episcopal Academy, Jefferson Shiel, Begins 51st Year of Teaching

The opening of Episcopal Academy Monday marked the beginning of the fifty-first year of teaching at the school by Jefferson Shiel.

It is very seldom that a man devotes fifty years of his life to teaching, and very seldom indeed that he serves fifty years in the same school. During that time he has taught about twenty-five hundred boys, many of whom have attained prominence in the various walks of life and all of whom delight in returning to the Academy to visit with their former teacher. (To calculate the beneficial influence that he has had on the boys who attended his classes would be a physical impossibility. It can only be left to the imagination.)

Mr. Shiel was born April 30, 1860 in New York City but his family moved to Philadelphia before he was one year old, and he has resided in this city ever since. After graduating from Central High School he attended Brown University and was graduated in 1882 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Last spring he was awarded an honorary Master's degree by Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. He first started teaching Mathematics

This Year's Paralysis Exceeded 1916 Cases

Twenty-two Cases Reported in Former Epidemic Compared With 31 This Year

CONTAGIOUS WARD BILT

The infantile paralysis that invaded Lower Merion in 1916 was mild compared to the epidemic that visited the Main Line this year.

Owing to the lack of proper hospital facilities and the obscure nature of the disease infantile paralysis caused more community concern at that time. Health proclamations were issued freely by the health officers of the Main Line Townships. When Samuel Vaulchain donated a plot of ground on his Rosemont estate a contagious hospital for the care of paralysis cases was erected in ten days.

Comparative figures showing the number of cases that developed in the epidemic of 1916, as compared with the epidemic of 1932, were made public by Marvin E. Reynolds, health officer of Lower Merion, at a meeting of the Township Board of Health in Ardmore Monday night.

The total number of cases reported in 1916 was 22, as compared with 31 cases reported so far this year. From July 22 to September 30 in 1916 there were 16 cases reported in the Township. From July 22 to September 30 in 1932 there were 31 cases reported in the Township.

The epidemic of 1916 began when two cases were reported for the week beginning July 22 and ending July 29. The 1932 epidemic began when seven cases were reported for the week beginning August 5 and ending August 12. In 1916 the epidemic subsided when the last case was reported during the week ending November 25.

In 1916 the emergency hospital erected on the Vaulchain estate had a capacity for 15 patients. A resident physician and two nurses were assigned to the hospital.

Christmas Seal Workers Meet at Norristown

Mrs. Mildred Martin LaDue, director Health Service, and Mrs. Marguerite Dickie, of the Community Health and Civic Association; J. Bruce Byall, of Narberth, president, Montgomery County Council for Social Welfare; Mrs. Walter J. Whitaker and Albert Faunce, Bala-Cynwyd, members of Christmas Seal Sale Committee of Bala-Cynwyd; all attended the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Montgomery County Tuberculosis and Public Health Society, held Monday at Norristown.

November 25th was the date set for the starting of the Seal Sale and Rev. Robert J. Gottschall, president, stressed the importance of special effort this year, as there are so many more calls for help.

Rev. Thomas Evans, of Ardmore, former district superintendent of the Philadelphia Methodist Conference District, gave an inspiring talk on the importance of personal service.

This series of lessons, based on the Culbertson system, is prepared by Mrs. Georgene Sickles Van Court, of Beechwood, associate teacher of the Culbertson National Studios.

In this series Mrs. Van Court will endeavor to build up a simple and comprehensive picture of bidding procedure. The articles will be based to a large extent upon her booklet "An Outline of the Culbertson System."

Lesson 2

Raising Partner's Suit Bid of One
Just as Partner's bid of one of a suit gives you definite information, so in your response to his bid you must endeavor to picture your hand to him accurately.

There are four possible responses you may make, each giving him a different and definite picture.

First, you may raise his bid.
Second, you may bid another suit.
Third, you may bid one or more no-trumps.

Fourth, and most dirgeful of bids—you may pass.

Let us consider the first response. What information is conveyed by a raise?

First, that you hold adequate trump support. Since your Partner may have bid on a weak 4-card suit, you must hold 4 small trumps or three to an honor as good as a Queen, i. e., x-x-x-x, or A-x-x, or K-x-x, or Q-x-x, or J-10-x. Otherwise, no matter how many A's or K's you hold in side suits, you do NOT raise his bid!

Second, that you hold more than 3 playing tricks. Otherwise, even though you hold more than 4 trumps, you pass. When Partner bid one of a suit, he told you he had 4 playing tricks—yet he is contracting to take 7 tricks. Because he assumes that you have your share of the outstanding 9 tricks, or 3 tricks, which furnishes the total of 7 tricks required. Therefore, to raise him to two, contracting to take 8 tricks, you must furnish him with another trick, or hold a total of 4 tricks. And if you are fortunate enough to hold more than 4 tricks, you give him a raise for each additional trick. You give the full strength of your hand at once. Moreover, if in each case you are ½ a trick short of the requirement, you may stretch that ½ trick and raise accordingly.

Now how do you find these playing tricks in the supporting hand?

The first asset considered is the number and strength of trumps, i. e.: 4 cards in trump are worth ½ a playing trick.

5 cards in trump are worth 1 playing trick.

6 cards in trump are worth 2 playing tricks.

The A is a trick, the K is a trick, the Q is a ½ trick, or sometimes is valued as a full trick.

The second asset is found in honor cards. Instead of counting honor cards merely at their defensive value, they are given their full trick taking value. Because, in raising Partner's suit bid you are not endeavoring to give him information as to the defensive strength of your hand, but only about the number of tricks your hand should take if he plays the two hands at his declaration. Therefore, you may raise him without one face card! However, honor cards are a very desirable asset, and counted at their full value are:

A-K-Q equals 3 playing tricks.
A-K-J equals 2½ playing tricks.
A-Q-J equals 2½ playing tricks.
K-Q-J equals 2 playing tricks.
K-J-10 equals 1½ playing tricks.
Q-J-10 equals 1 playing trick.

The third asset is found in long side suits, each card in excess of three being worth ½ a trick, so that a 4-card suit is worth ½ a trick, any 5-card suit is worth 1 trick, exactly as they are valued in the bidding hand.

The fourth asset is found in short side suits. This asset is only considered in the supporting hand, never in the bidding hand. And only one short is counted. When there are but 3 trumps,

A void suit = 2 playing tricks.
A singleton = 1 playing trick.
A doubleton = ½ playing trick.
But when there are 4 trumps, the short suit is more valuable and

A void = 3 playing tricks.
A singleton = 2 playing tricks.
A doubleton = 1 playing trick.

How many tricks would you count in the following hand if your Partner bid one spade?

S-x-x-x-x
H-x
D-x-x-x-x
C-x-x-x

In spades you have one trick, in hearts 2 tricks and in diamonds ½ a trick, making a total of 3½ P. T., and you therefore raise him to two spades.

How would you bid and play this hand?

No. 286 AN ORDINANCE

REGULATING THE DIRECTION AND SPEED OF TRAFFIC, THE PARKING OF VEHICLES AND ESTABLISHING A TRAFFIC COURT.

The Council of the Borough of Narberth does ordain:
SECTION 1. That the Public Safety Committee of Council, with the approval of the Burgess, shall have the power and authority to regulate the direction and speed of vehicular traffic and to fix the time and manner in which vehicles may be parked on any or all of the streets of the Borough, said regulations to have the same force and effect when promulgated in writing and after publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the Borough, as if specifically adopted by this Council.

SECTION 2. That no person shall park or leave standing, unattended, any vehicle on any street of the Borough between the hours of 3.00 A. M. and 6.00 A. M.

SECTION 3. That police officers in uniform or upon display of badge shall have authority to warn any operator of any vehicle violating any of the regulations covered by this ordinance or to notify said operator in writing of the time and place for a hearing, or he may make information of such violation before the Burgess or a Justice of the Peace of the Borough against any such operator.

SECTION 4. That all persons violating the regulations made under the authority of this Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than fifty ($50.00) dollars, with costs, or, in case of non-payment of fines and costs, to imprisonment in jail for not over ten (10) days, said fines to be recoverable and payable in the manner prescribed by law.

SECTION 5. That the Burgess or a Justice of the Peace of the Borough of Narberth may establish a special "Traffic Court" for the hearing of cases of violations of the regulations covered by this Ordinance or the violation of any Ordinance of Council or Act of Assembly, pertaining to the use of streets and highways.

Passed this 10th day of October A. D. 1932.

DANIEL SEITCH,
President of Council.

Attest:
CHAS. V. NOEL,
Secretary of Council.

Approved this 10th day of October, A. D. 1932.

"Automatic heat with coal... IMPOSSIBLE!"

Who says so?

● When you think of automatic heat—do you still think of the expensive would-be substitutes for coal? Get out of that way of figuring—when you figure on automatic heat today!

You can have automatic heat from coal—just as automatic as any form of heat—but free from all the danger and expense of inefficient fuels.

Newton will guarantee a completely automatic installation—using low-priced Buckwheat or Rice Coal—that will give you heat as automatically as any gas or oil burner—at a fraction of the cost!

What about the ashes? Newton will take care of them, too—if you want us to!

Cheltenham No Match for Maroon Gridders

Functioning of Entire Lower Merion Team Pleases Coaches

SCORE IN EACH PERIOD

Half a dozen days ago two stalwart football teams met on the uncropped grass of Cheltenham's gridiron to settle an argument of thirty-one years' standing, and Albert Adam, '32 instructor of line play and backfield strategy at our leading institution of secondary education, carried the traditions of Lower Merion forward in a victorious manner.

The day was wonderful for an opening football game, and, though slightly warm, the players found the tussle to their liking, and the several thousand spectators had football served to them in a most appetizing manner.

Lower Merion's one-sided 26-0 victory was expected. Four touchdowns and a safety were earned by Sailor Adam's boys, but they were scored in no easy fashion. Every inch of the clover was contested by a game, rangy eleven representing the colors of Cheltenham, and but for the classy exhibition of the Main Liners, the score would have been close.

Cheltenham should win many games with the team that lined up against the Maroon, for nine first downs were earned for the Blue as Hoffman, Ruzika and Carr carried the ball for numerous gains.

Outstanding in Lower Merion's attack were Ryan, Zengel, Coffman, Iocavelli and Byrd. Polilli's signal calling and defensive work were exceptional and Talley's play at end was encouraging. The entire team functioned well as a unit and sufficiently so to cause optimistic comment by the local coaches.

Touchdowns were scored in each quarter, and the safety which resulted as an enemy forward pass was grounded behind their goal line, was chalked up in the final canto.

Narberth Grid Team Prospects Are Bright

This writer, in his travels while playing the role of sports reporter, hears many favorable comments about the interest shown in connection with athletics here, and it is his hope that we won't fall down now that a club has been formed, which, if it succeeds, will be only a stepping stone to even better things.

Be on hand at the playground tomorrow and you certainly will get the worth of whatever donation you make for the good of the brand new undertaking. And after that comes basketball, then on to another diamond campaign which may lead to another championship. But whether or not one is gained, Narberth will be kept at the head of the class in the sports world if the spectators do their share. Think it over.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Pug Rentner the Flying Dutchman! Pug Rentner, the flaming wildcat of Northwestern's prize menagerie! Just a plain Dutchman to Harry Newman. Only a blue Maltese to Kipke's alert eleven of Michigan. The Wolverines, led by the versatile Quarterback Newman, paralyzed the over-anxious boys of Dick Hanley last week at Ann Arbor and outplayed them, 15 to 6.

We got the news of Rentner's fumble at the start of the game the moment it happened. We were riding in elegant style in Bill Anderson's sumptuous coupe from Valley Forge Golf Course, while the brand new radio installed therein spoke excitedly of the unexpected break for Michigan. A moment later it announced Newman's touchdown. It's a short step from Montgomery avenue to Ann Arbor.

From an easy game two weeks ago against Missouri, Northwestern ran into a somewhat unexpected tornado at Ann Arbor. Illinois and Purdue will feel the rebound, for in Rentner, Olson, Sullivan and Potter, the Wildcats have one of the strongest and most versatile backfields in the country.

Virginia Polytechnic Institute has one of the strongest elevens in the South this season. With three victories under the team belt, the last one over a barking Bulldog from Georgia University, the Virginians look forward with confidence to the game with William and Mary tomorrow. The latter defeated Navy two weeks ago.

In another article we referred to Coach Adam as "Sailor" Adam, not only to be different, but because he has the right to be called "Sailor" just the same as he has to be spoken of as "Soldier," the familiar nickname given to him throughout his college career. He was a salt-sea mariner, sailing before the mast around the Horn long before he wore the olive drab of a U. S. infantryman.

Tulane licked the Georgians last week, but this Saturday will prove the class of the Olive Green team from Palm lined St. Charles street, New Orleans. Vanderbilt, a team which has been rolling up huge scores, is at the height of her game, and with Chuggy Fortune at fullback, will test the levee boys to the nth degree.

Harvey Buck will take his accustomed place in the backfield for the Adam-men this Saturday. The Merion youngster is the best open field runner in the suburbs this season. He has been ineligible under P. I. A. A. rules until the 10th of October because of failure in some subjects last season. If he is kept eligible the Lower Merion season should be one of victories.

Dartmouth comes to Franklin Field Saturday. Bill Morton's famous sentence last year at Yale is brought to mind. After Yale had piled up a tremendous lead in the first half, Quarterback Morton said pleadingly, "Come on, boys, we only need a few touchdowns and a field goal and we can lick them." You remember the mighty comeback, one of the most sensational in football history, and as the final minutes of the game faded away they tied Yale, 33 to 33.

Bill Morton will be missing this year, but his brother, Roald, is a member of the team and almost as good as big Bill. McCall is gone, but the spirit of Oberlander, Spears and Marsters will stalk the gridiron as Harman's men line up against the

Big Green.

If Kellett is himself we believe Penn will win three touchdowns to one or two. There is latent power in that Penn backfield, and a spark will set it off to another unexpected explosion like the Wisconsin game of a year ago.

John Pennypacker will probably see the game from the bench with a hip injury keeping him out of action.

Temple University, an over-rated team, meets Bucknell tonight under the floodlights. Carnegie Tech, Bucknell or Villanova may take the North Broad street team this season, so it may as well be tonight.

Tennessee, a major team, has lost only a couple of games since back in 1926, but Alabama will get revenge for last year's 25 to 0 trouncing tomorrow when the two teams line up at Birmingham.

John "Hurry" Cain will direct the Crimson Tide in its efforts to bring a Southern Conference championship back to its former home at Tuscaloosa.

Lower Merion has a good chance to bring back an overwhelming victory tomorrow from South Ardmore. Haverford High has plenty of fight, but Cornog will need more than "fight" in his line-up to stop the versatile backfield that Adam will show him at any stage of the game. It is a coach's problem to prevent overconfidence in a team, and that will certainly be Adam's problem as this season progresses. The boys look like they mean business, however, and with a plethora of good material at hand, the first-stringers will have to keep on the qui vive all the time to prevent being displaced by another ambitious youngster.

L. M. Junior High Opens Season Today With Pottstown

Lower Merion Junior High School opens the football season at Pennypacker Field this afternoon in a game with Pottstown Junior High, a team boasting a group of sturdy, heavy boys.

Coach Richard Mattis' squad is light this season, and green in football ways, as every letterman on the squad graduated to the Senior High last fall. The prospects are pointing toward some defeats for the Leopards before December, but with a record of never being defeated by a Junior High team since his inaugural game four years ago, Mattis can afford to drop a few without worry.

The only loss Mattis' team has ever encountered was with Swarthmore Preparatory School two years ago, score, 7 to 6. Radnor Junior High tied the Leopards last year in an exciting game at Wayne.

The schedule:
October 14—Pottstown Junior High, home.
October 20—Darby Junior High, away.
October 28—Haverford Junior High, away.
November 4—Phoenixville Junior High, home.
November 11—Edison Junior High, home.
November 17—Upper Darby Junior High, away.
November 23—Pending, home.

Saturday Evening Dances
Invitations will be issued shortly for the Saturday Evening Dances at the Merion Cricket Club under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. Atmore Prizer. The first dance will be on November 5.

Narberth Girl Scout Troop No. 8 is Active

The Narberth Girl Scout Troop, No. 8, had a rousing organization meeting on Tuesday evening.

The qualities necessary for the passing of tests such as tenderfoot, second class, first class and eagle, were discussed. Patrol leaders were elected and lots were drawn for other members of the Patrol.

Judy Hess, Mary Alice Krauskop, Jane Smedley and Olive Bates are the new patrol leaders.

After the discussion, a lively game of "Devil and the Donkey" was played. Following the game the members then settled down to discuss plans for the next meeting. Plans for a supper hike are afoot and every member of the Troop is eagerly looking forward to this event. A Court of Honor was called to discuss the Troop problems.

Scout meetings will open promptly at 7.15, and "Cappy" Mahl will be at the Scout house for those who wish to pass the tests from seven until the adjournment of the meetings.

Missionary Society to Hold First Meeting Thursday

The Women's Missionary Society of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will hold its first meeting of the season, Thursday afternoon, October 20, at 2.30 o'clock, in the Church Parlor.

Mrs. Andrew Johnstone, Secretary of Stewardship of Missions of Philadelphia Presbytery North, will give the message and Mrs. Peter Stam, Jr., will be the soloist.

A cordial invitation is extended to all women interested in Missions to attend the meeting; also the Prayer Circle, which meets in the Session Room a half-hour before the regular meeting.

Basketball Candidates Wanted

Harry Holler, manager of the Narberth Boys' Club basketball team, announces that he will put his team in the Main Line Basketball League this winter. All boys who wish to try out for this team are requested to meet with him at the Legion Room of the Community Building at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. There will also be a second team game and the younger boys will have a chance to enter competition during the winter months. Practice will start about November 1st.

Women Voters Plan All Day Session Oct. 27

The Montgomery County Branch of the League of Women Voters will hold a luncheon and all day meeting on Thursday, October 27, at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford. Mrs. George S. B. Appell is the chairman of Montgomery County. Reservations may be made through Mrs. John Carter, 1825 Spruce street, Philadelphia.

The Merion-Bala-Cynwyd Branch is joining the County for the first meeting of the season. Miss Florence Evans is the chairman.

The speakers will be the best representatives obtainable from each party. The morning session will consist of a business meeting. Among the speakers listed are Mrs. Marie O'Connell, of Philadelphia; J. William Ditter and Philip C. Pendleton, and other campaign speakers.

Paced by Carroll Cook, late of LaSalle Prep, Villanova rode roughshod over the gridiron warriors from Gettysburg College last Saturday and recorded a stunning 31-0 triumph.

WILL HEAD NEW BANK

Richard S. McKinley, of Wayne, will be president of the Main Line Trust Company, the new bank to be organized in Ardmore, and for which application for a charter has been made at Harrisburg.

The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, often mentioned as interested in the Main Line field, are the sponsors of the proposed institution, to be known as the Main Line Trust Company, with offices on Lancaster avenue, Ardmore.

The Pennsylvania Company is to be the sole owner of the stock, made up of $250,000 in capital and $250,000 in surplus. The imposing list of directors is designed to create confidence in the bank from the outset.

John H. Mason will be chairman of the Board of Directors and William J. Lloyd, secretary and treasurer.

That the Pennsylvania Company, which has acted as Philadelphia big brother to many suburban banks would be the logical sponsor of banking rehabilitation for Ardmore, has always been the feeling among Main Line people. That institution, through heavy loans on pledged securities, was the principal support of the Merion Title and Trust Company during its period of difficulties. Many officers and directors of the Pennsylvania Company are Main Line men.

Richard S. McKinley will be president; John H. Mason, chairman of the Board of Directors, and William J. Lloyd, secretary and treasurer.
